

Occupational health and safety training for newly admitted students takes place on the Medical University's e-learning platform, known as PLUM. Please remember that the OHS training must be completed before classes begin; failure to do so will result in you not being admitted to the classes.

Dean's offices are responsible for designating a list of newly admitted students who are required to take the Occupational health and safety training.

Login is done by entering your email address at @student.umw.edu.pl and your email password.

The occupational health and safety training is divided into two stages: a theoretical section (presentations during which students can present occupational health and safety and fire safety content) and a practical component – a credit test.

Note! If you have any questions, please contact the Student Affairs Department:
bozena.kolodynska@umw.edu.pl or monika.lewinska-kotowska@umw.edu.pl

To complete the training click: <https://plum.umw.edu.pl/>

Then, go to the My Courses tab select Occupational health and safety and fire protection

Then, after reviewing the training information, go to the "Educational Materials" tab and select "Training Content".

Attention! To complete the training, both the "Training Content" and the "Test" must be "Completed." For the "Training Content" section, you must complete the presentation 100% of the time, while for the "Final Test" section, you must answer 60% of the time correctly.

After selecting "Training Content" and after displaying the message and clicking the "Enter" button, the system will open the training content in a new tab.

To complete the training, you must complete this educational material in its entirety – the progress bar must reach 100%.

After completing the training, you can return to its content at any time if necessary.

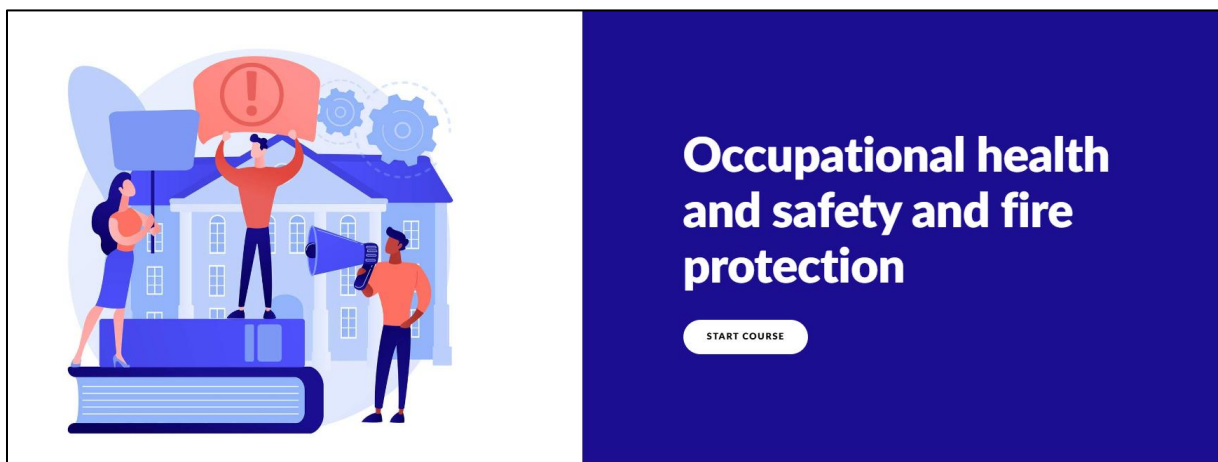

After completing this activity, a checkbox labeled "Start a new attempt" will appear under the "Enter" button. Selecting this option will reset your progress and prevent you from jumping between topics. To advance to a specific topic, you will need to complete the entire activity again sequentially.

To begin, click the "Enter" button.

To begin, select the "Start Course" button

While viewing the presentation, please navigate through all tabs and familiarize yourself with their content. Otherwise, the training will not be considered completed, and the entire occupational health and safety training will be failed.

While viewing the content, open each tab so that the status bar on the left side of the screen is 100% filled. Subpages may appear as follows:

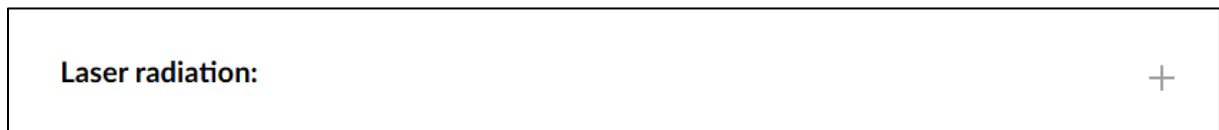

To proceed, please read the information hidden under EACH arrow, plus etc.

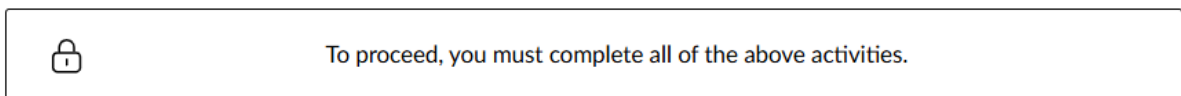

To proceed, expand the content by pressing the + sign

You must turn each card over to move on to the next content.

If this message appears:

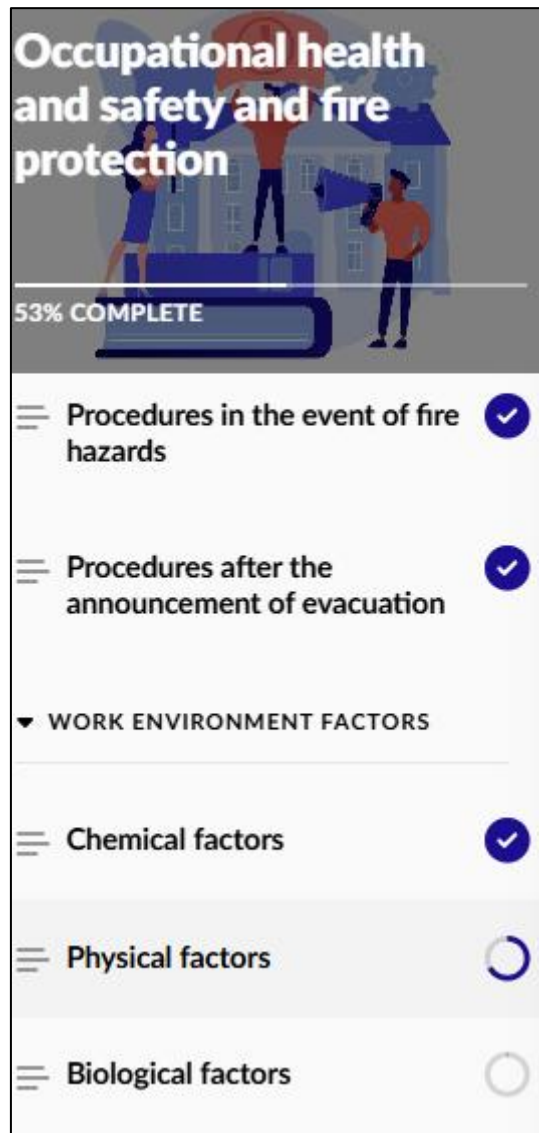

This means that not all content has been opened and you need to go back to each segment and re-read the content in that segment by opening tabs.

The "Next" button indicates that all content in a given category has been opened and the student can move on to the next category.

You can track your progress in the upper left corner:

After going through the practical training content and seeing such a message, please return to the PLUM e-learning platform

The training has been completed.

You can close this browser window and return to the PLUM e-learning platform.

Then start the training test:

To pass, you must answer at least 60% of the questions correctly. Each student has two attempts to take the test.

If you fail the test, the course is considered failed.

Completed occupational health and safety training is confirmed by a certificate.

Please note: Please do not submit certificates to the Dean's Office yourself.
